

From: Noonan, David (SCH)
To: 'microsoft.atr(a)usdoj.gov'
Date: 1/23/02 6:54am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

As punishment Microsoft gets to train kids on using their software?
They also get to determine the value of the "donated" software? This is a really bad idea. Even the DOJ doesn't seem to like it.

* The DOJ's settlement was brokered by Bush administration appointee Assistant Attorney General Charles A. James, head of the DOJ's antitrust division. But career officials at the Justice Department, who had pursued the case since the beginning, displayed their apparent displeasure with the agreement by not signing it.

Regards,
Dave Noonan
Atlanta, GA
Network Engineer